Knox Reveals Navy Has Acquired Upper Hand Over U-Boats

Planned Construction of 428 Additional Vessels Is Cancelled

Washington, Oct. 30.—(AP)—American forces have gained the upper hand in the battle of the submarines in the Pacific where the job is to break Japanese supply lines and in the Atlantic where the fight has been to drive off Nazi U-boats.

This flat conclusion was supported today in two statements by Secretary of the Navy Knox: 1. The war against Nazi raiders in the Atlantic has been successful to the point where planned construction of 427 additional anti-submarine vessels can be cancelled.

2. "The campaign against the Japanese merchant fleet is proceeding at full speed and with steadily increasing forces". Knox's announcement of increasing activities against Japanese supply lines serving their scattered bases in the Pacific was a verbal comment in discussing a communiqué which reported sinking of 10 Japanese ships and damaging of four others. These brought to 474 the number of Japanese vessels sunk, probably sunk or damaged by American submarines which dared to operate even in harbors of Japan itself.

Knox also told of cancellation of plans for construction of 305 destroyer escorts — small but hard-hitting anti-submarine craft; sixty 180-foot escorts originally designed as minesweepers; fifty 173-foot patrol craft — "the steel hulled craft which have proved so useful"; and twelve 110-foot subchasers with wooden hulls. An additional 75 small craft in the blue-print stage have been dropped from the construction program.

The cancellations, he said, were ordered because improved conditions in the Atlantic, where losses of merchant vessels to Nazi subs have been at a minimum for the past month, and the increasing need for more amphibious craft.

Attempt to Reduce Amboy High School District Failure

An attempt to withdraw about 12,000 acres from the territory now served by the Amboy township high school district and to add this area to the Mendota high school territory met with defeat yesterday at a hearing on the proposal before County Superintendent of Schools W. R. Foster of LaSalle county at Ottawa. About half of the signers of the original petition to withdraw from the Amboy territory and annex to the Mendota high school district were said to have reconsidered their action and in an unexpected move made by Attorney H. C. Warner, a second petition was presented at the outset of yesterday's hearing at Ottawa in which the signers asked to withdraw their signatures from the original petition. The second petition, which eliminated about half the territory sought in the original petition, was granted by County Superintendent Brown and it was believed that the annexation movement was halted, but the sponsors of the plan, it was stated, may appeal through a court action. Attorney B. J. Reck of Mendota represented the petitioners to expand the district.

MAN, 71, SUICIDES
Harrisburg, Ill., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Oliver Feazel, 71, shot and killed himself yesterday following a family quarrel in which he fired three shots at his wife and daughter. Sheriff O. T. Pickering said. Mrs. Lillian Morsem, 41, the daughter, was taken to a Harrisburg hospital suffering from a bullet wound in the abdomen. Mrs. Feazel was not hit.

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

The Hitlerites, laboring under high nerve-tension as the net of military adversity tightens about them, again are having nightmares of allied invasions of Europe.

Berlin reports activities in southern Britain which, to German eyes, look like preparations for the long-awaited second front in France. Also, over in the Mediterranean, Commander-in-Chief Eisenhower is said to be massing troops on the island of Corsica, and neutral sources say there's a large concentration of allied transports and warships in that neighborhood.

The Nazis think the Mediterranean signs could mean either of two things. Eisenhower may be planning another landing on the west coast of Italy to assist allied land operations, or he may be headed for an invasion of southern France, through the Rhone valley.

Quite likely the Germans in broadcasting these reports are fishing for information. However, it's true that the allies are making many gestures which probably do mean fresh invasions. What Berlin can't figure out, though, is when and where these offensives are coming off.

Hitler's soothsayer thinks a cross-channel invasion of France may have been decided on in the tripartite conference at Moscow. Well, that could be. President Roosevelt yesterday indicated in a press conference that the parley—which he said was a great success—was in its final phases and that formal documents of agreement were being drafted.

One of the most important questions—if not THE most important—question was expected to come before the conference was the second-front issue. That red-hot problem, which means so much to unity among the big

Woman's 76 Years of Service in One Family Ended by Death at Age of 92

Chicago, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Miss Mary Wintres hated wars and bloodshed and trouble and liked flowers and gardens and movies that brought tears. Mary died Tuesday at the age of 92 and at funeral services yesterday all but one member of the Mayer and Oppenheimer families were present. Technically, Mary was not a member of the families, but her 76 years of service to four generations made her more than that.

Edwin Mayer, grandson of Mary's first employer and a LaSalle street lawyer, presided at

Allies Slowed Up in Italy by Mud, Rains; Make Some Advances

Flying Forts, Based in Mediterranean, Blast Genoa on Friday

Allied Headquarters, "Algiers, Oct. 30.—(AP)—British troops of the Fifth Army storming across the Regia canal in a three-mile plunge have occupied the seaside town of Mondragone to ram squarely against lofty Mount Massico, western anchor of the new German line in Italy, it was announced today.

Farther inland, American forces developed a flanking threat against Mount Massico, capturing Pietravairano which dominates both the upper Volturno river valley and the main Capua-Rome highway.

Simultaneously, the British Eighth Army to the east forged ahead to take Montemilto, on the lower bank of the Trigno river 14 miles inland from their bridgehead in the San Salvo area, where the heaviest fighting on the Italian front still raged.

Some 15 towns in all fell to the allied advance, hindered by heavy rains and mud in all sectors. Mule transport had to be substituted for motor vehicles in some mountainous localities.

British Hold for Week
The British sprang from trenches and foxholes along the southern banks of the Regia canal to take Mondragone. They had been held to that line, paralleling the lower Volturno river, for more than a week by heavy enemy fire from

Charges Democrats Favor Appeasement

Paterson, N. J., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Statements of the Democratic party, says Wendell Willkie, "have practiced appeasement with the forces of reaction and fascism all over the earth," and at home the party's actions belie its advocacy of freedom and liberalism.

"In the south," the 1940 presidential candidate told a Republican rally last night, the opposition party "is content to abridge the freedom of millions of votes, x x x Here in the north, and especially here in New Jersey, it relies for its strength on reactionary political machines which are a national scandal."

Urging election of Walter E. Edge, G. O. P. candidate for governor, Willkie assailed the organization of Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, powerful Democratic leader who is backing Mayor Vincent J. Murphy of Newark, the party's nominee for governor.

"If we want free government here 'in America,' Willkie declared, "we must use the methods of freedom, not of Frank Hague's machine."

Willkie, answering a Democratic charge that Edge had been an "appeaser" when ambassador to France, said Democratic statesmen had "practiced appeasement with x x x Japan, with Vichy, with Franco, with the king of Italy—indeed, with almost everyone who has ever offered them an opportunity to appease."

The last rites. He read the 23rd Psalm, and prayed and commented on the things that had endeared Mary to the family.

Mary knew most things about the family but one secret she did not learn was that Mrs. A. M. Oppenheimer's son, Arthur, had been transferred from the United States to New Guinea. The family hadn't told her because she was ill, and loved Arthur and hated war.

Mary's last employer was Mrs. Oppenheimer; her first was Mrs. Oppenheimer's grandmother, Mrs. Simon Block.

Russians Converge on Key Stronghold of Germans-Nikopol

Three-Pronged Drive is Started to Trap Foe in Dnieper Bend

London, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Three Russian armies converged on the key stronghold of Nikopol on the lower Dnieper river today in a multiple drive to complete the entrapment of German forces in the Dnieper bend.

Two other Red army forces at the same time were surging west and south of Melitopol to seal off the German positions in the Crimean peninsula. One, paced by squadrons of hard-riding Cossack cavalymen and tank units, smashed through 80 towns to take Bolshoi Utyug, 45 miles from the northeastern corner of the Crimea, while the second captured Torgayevka, less than 50 miles from Perekop, which bottlenecked the escape corridor at the northwestern edge of the peninsula.

Gains of fifteen miles were reported in this sector by the Russian communiqué, with the demoralized enemy abandoning additional huge stores of military equipment.

Two prongs of the triple threat to Nikopol were led by Gen. Feodor Tolbukhin and Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky. The former cracked a wide German "defense-in-depth" line in the Balki-Malayay-Bulezorka salient, the Moscow bulletin said, and battled its way through the steppe towns of Malaya-Baloveschenka and Bolshoi-Bulezorka, west and southwest of Nikopol, chief manganese-producing center in south Russia.

Krivoi Rog Holds Out
Malinovsky, operating inside the Dnieper bend 30 miles southwest of Dnepropetrovsk, slashed ahead six miles to invest Alexandrovka, 42 miles north of Nikopol. More than 1,600 Germans were killed in this action in which 26 towns were liberated.

The third threat to Nikopol was revealed by the Berlin radio, which said strong Russian forces were plunging across the Dnieper river just below Zaporozhe, with the evident intention of joining Tolbukhin's corps, or driving down the west bank of the river to strike Nikopol from the east. The Moscow bulletin did not mention this new threat.

Krivoi Rog, Ukrainian iron center 50 miles northwest of Nikopol, was still holding out against fierce Red army assaults, and the reinforced German garrison was reportedly staging

Judge Scores Cook County Courts in Ruling This Morn

Judge George C. Dixon, presiding in Lee County Circuit court, today scored the practice of certain Cook county courts in the commitment of persons to the Dixon state hospital.

"In addition to making the Dixon state hospital a dumping ground for Chicago and Cook county criminals, the courts are making a liquor cure hospital of the institution," Judge Dixon said, and ordered that copies of the habeas corpus proceeding together with the court's findings be forwarded to the attorney general and department of public welfare at Springfield.

"I have no criticism to make of the local or county officials and the protest is in the action of the courts of Cook county generally, and in the hope that the proper state departments at Springfield do something to correct this distressing situation," he added.

The attack on the Cook county courts was the outgrowth of a habeas corpus action instituted by Attorney A. G. Harri to secure the release of Peter Uzzo from the Dixon state hospital, where he has been held as a feeble minded person since March 7, 1941. The hearing occupied practically all of the court's attention throughout yesterday and was concluded this morning.

Called "Scandalous Case"

"This is one of the most scandalous cases which has come to this court's attention," Judge Dixon said today before ruling that Uzzo be discharged from the institution. The evidence produced in court indicates that Uzzo became intoxicated and as the result was committed to the Dixon state hospital. The Cook county courts in addition to making the local institution a dumping ground for its

Loneragan Returned to Murder Scene With Toy for Son

New York, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Three hours after he bludgeoned and choked his wife to death in her fashionable Beekman Hill apartment last Sunday morning, Wayne Lonergan returned to the house and left a toy elephant for his baby son.

Police said the Royal Canadian Air Force Cadet first went to a friend's home, used scissors to cut his blood-stained uniform into shreds, and donned civilian clothes.

Then, they said, Lonergan went to another friend's home, got the toy elephant he had left there the night before, and took it to the triplex apartment of his wife, Mrs. Patricia Burton Lonergan, 22, whose battered, unclad body lay across a bed on the third floor.

He entered the building at noon, police said, and left the package on the second floor stairway landing after pencilling the name of his son, "Billy Lonergan," in large letters across the top.

Loneragan told police in his confession, they reported, that he killed his estranged wife in a fit of rage after she told him that she never again would permit him to see their 1½-year-old son.

But when a grand jury indicted him on a first degree murder charge yesterday it declared he killed her "willfully, feloniously and of malice aforethought."

Detroit Election Unusually Bitter

Detroit, Oct. 30.—(AP)—One of the most acrimonious mayoralty campaigns in Detroit's political history neared its close today with two candidates nominated on non-partisan ballots lashing out vigorously at each other's ability to handle the $15,000-a-year job.

Seeking election for a third two-year term next Tuesday is Edward Jeffries, 43-year-old Detroit born incumbent whose habit of piling up substantial margins was upset in the recent primary. Opposing him is Frank Fitzgerald, 45-year-old native of Holyoke, Mass., law professor and circuit court commissioner who is endorsed by a number of organizations that heretofore supported Jeffries.

Expect Heavy Vote
The very bitterness of the campaign was cited by political experts as likely to bring out an unusually heavy vote for an off-year election—possibly as high as 400,000.

Campaign interest was heightened by the fact that in the October 5 primary Fitzgerald polled 97,548 votes to Jeffries' 59,945 and carried every predominantly negro precinct in the city. Detroit's present population of approximately 1,750,000 includes 175,000 negroes.

Echoes of last summer's race riots were heard in the campaign when Jeffries asserted that although he blamed no single group for the rioting he did maintain "that negro hoodlums started it," and Fitzgerald accused the mayor of "feeding the fires of race prejudice and class hatred."

President Will Act Monday if Miners Do Not Return to Jobs

Executive Awaits Meeting of UMW Policy Committee Then

Washington, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The United Mine Workers' leadership must act by Monday to end the spreading coal strikes or face presidential action—again.

That was President Roosevelt's ultimatum last night as the number of idle soft coal miners exceeded 80,000 and continued to grow. He said he would await the miners' policy committee meeting on Monday, confident that the War Labor Board's proposals would be accepted, but he added: "If I am mistaken and the miners do not accept the board's proposals, I shall take decisive action to see that coal is mined."

This sounded like government seizure of the mines, once more. The president expressed this determination in a letter to WLB Chairman William H. Davis, replying to the letter notifying him of the strikes.

Promises Action

"I am watching the situation carefully," said the president, "and shall not hesitate to take whatever steps may be necessary to see that the coal is mined. We are short of coal to meet our war needs. We can no more tolerate the letting down of coal production than we can tolerate letting down of the shipping of supplies to our fighting men."

"I am not planning to take decisive action, however, until after the meeting of the policy committee of the miners next Monday. I am loath to believe that the miners, after careful consideration, will reject the proposal which the board has indicated it would approve and which goes very far toward meeting the demands of the miners."

Most of Chicago's Handbooks Closed

Chicago, Oct. 30.—(AP)—A 20-day investigation of gambling and its ramifications by a Cook county grand jury has halted operations of most of the city's estimated 700 handbooks, the Chicago Crime Commission's director disclosed today. Other forms of commercialized gambling also were reported at a standstill.

Closing of the handbook shops, termed the tightest in years, has stopped a business which handled an estimated $50,000,000 annually—the volume of betting on horses having been disclosed in a recent federal grand jury investigation of handbook and gambling incomes.

Virgil W. Peterson, operating director of the Crime Commission, said his investigators were unable to find any horse betting parlors in operation and that wire services to the betting places had been discontinued. Clearing centers for horse bets also were reported closed.

Peterson asserted he had never seen gambling places "shut as tight as they are today," and said "it demonstrates what can be done when the police and other law enforcing officials make a determined effort to enforce the gambling laws."

The inquiry by the jurors into gambling and its attendant murders has resulted in the suspension of four Chicago district police captains and several lower rank officers. The jury yesterday was reported to have voted a true bill charging Capt. Hugh McCarthy, chief of the county police, with malfeasance. The jury also has indicted nine men for the murder of Martin (Sonny) Quirk, south side gambling boss, who was slain last month.

Anti-Hitler Peace Agitation in Reich Shown in Document

London, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The Netherlands news agency Aneta said today that an anti-Hitler peace movement in Germany was disclosed in a letter smuggled from the reich.

The circular letter, Aneta said, was written by Erich Koch, last reported as Gauleiter at Koenigsberg, East Prussia. Aneta said his letter asserted:

"The forces of reaction want to eliminate the fuhrer and subject the reich to a military dictatorship which, against the nation's will, would immediately start peace negotiations."

"Certain circles which always talk of sacred Prussianism, but, in attitude, show nothing of the heroic spirit of the Seven Years War, purposely are spreading rumors that the fuhrer, as a result of impaired health, can no longer carry the burden of his office."

"By means of these rumors, the forces of reaction are preparing a coup by which the fuhrer is to be ousted from his post as commander in chief of the army."

"It is the duty of us all to unite in the struggle against reaction."

Netherlands authorities have reason to believe the document is authentic, Aneta said.

GERMAN BROADCAST

London, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The German radio in a broadcast of reports from Stockholm said today that American and British delegates to the tri-power conference in Moscow had "made a detailed proposition to the soviet union regarding a second front, with a fixed date."

"Consequently they gained the favor of the soviet negotiators," the broadcast said.

German reaction to President Roosevelt's announcement of the success of the tri-power conference centered today on attempts by Berlin to picture Britain and the United States as yielding to soviet demands and abandoning their post-war plans for free and independent nations.

A Nazi broadcast quoting the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung asserted that "the plans of the three powers are gravitating ever more obviously around one central point—the destruction of the independence and creative nations in Europe and the whole world."

The German propaganda agency Transocean declared that Britain was turning to a policy which contemplated a joint Anglo-Soviet rule in Europe.

"Eden (British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden) has accepted a Russian request to leave eastern Poland outside the discussion," the agency said. "He also agreed in principle that the Polish emigre government in London should be reconstructed."

Challenge

Portland, Ore., Oct. 30.—(AP)—A proud wartime shipbuilding center launches its 500th ocean-going vessel in 33 months today with the challenge "beat that if you can!"

Portland boosters believe their bustling yards have set a ship-building record for any comparable area in the world. Approximately one billion dollars worth of steel ships, totaling more than 4,000,000 tons, have been launched by the 48 yards in the Portland area since Feb. 1941.

No. 1 was a 500-ton tender built by Commercial Iron Works.

No. 500, which dips into the Willamette river today, is a sub-chaser from the same yard.

And No. 501—The Liberty ship William D. Hoard—was due to follow an hour later from Henry J. Kaiser's Oregon shipbuilding corporation.

The total Portland tonnage, based on figures compiled by the Oregonian, includes 205 Liberty ships, 87 Navy patrol craft, 38 commercial tankers, 30 landing craft, 23 mine laying craft, 15 aircraft carriers, seven navy tankers, four net tenders and four Navy tugs.

Most Drivers Would Welcome Windfall of 1,400 Gal. Gasoline; Not Gene Mott

Green Bay, Wis., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Most drivers would welcome a windfall of about 1,400 gallons of gasoline but not truck driver Gene Mott, 28, Justice Park, Ill., who doesn't care if he never sees another drop of the vital fluid.

Mott was en route to Stevens Point, Wis., with a load of gasoline when, according to his story to Chief Clarence Grognet of the Brown county highway police, he was forced down a rocky gully by a car on highway 54.

As the trailer-truck plunged down the embankment, a stone pierced one of the three compartments in the trailer and a flood of gasoline cascaded over Mott, trapped in the cab. For 15 minutes, he struggled to extricate himself fearing alternately to be burned or drowned before he was able to free himself. Residents came with containers—from washtubs to whiskey bottles—to cart off the petrol. Chief Grognet said.

Mott was taken to St. Vincent's hospital suffering from bruises, shock and the aftermath of swallowing gasoline.

Bridging the Volturno: U. S. Engineers Go to Work

Italy's battle-famed Volturno river is narrow, as rivers go, but bridging it under fire was a difficult task for American Army engineers. Large Increase in Theft of Whiskey is Reported in Chicago

Chicago, Oct. 30.—(AP)—A large increase in the theft of whiskey was reported by Police Sgt. Phelan today, with more than 2,800 cases valued at approximately $138,000 stolen in the last four months.

For the comparative period in 1942, Phelan said, liquor thefts amounted to 149 cases valued at $5,000.

The latest theft was 500 cases of whiskey, valued at more than $20,000, from a trailer truck, which was parked without a tractor at the American Transportation Company's terminal. Thieves apparently took a tractor from the yards and hooked it onto the trailer with the liquor cargo and drove away, Phelan said.

Illinois University Acquires 722 Acres of Land for Its Airport

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 30.—(AP)—The University of Illinois today had 722 acres of land to develop into an airport for use in its expanded aviation training program.

Acquisition of the land, with a few small parcels yet to be purchased, was announced last night at the monthly meeting of the board of trustees.

The trustees said the area, located five miles from the Champaign-Urbana campus, met the minimum requirements of the Civil Aeronautics Board, which has allocated $600,000 for the project.

Contracts will be let as soon as possible, the board statement said, and there will be three 5,300-foot runways, with the fourth, unpaved to be 4,000 feet long.

The board also amended residence requirements for the benefit of students in the armed forces. Credit for work done under military supervision may be transferred to the university if the student spent either his junior year or last junior and first senior semester in residence.

Entrance requirements for the college of pharmacy also were lowered to include high school students in the upper three-fifths of their class instead of the previously-required one-half.

Gentlemen:

I received through the Illinois State Historical Society, a copy of your Monday, October 18, edition. I would like five additional editions of that date, and I am enclosing coins to pay for them and postage expense you will incur in sending them to me.

Mrs. Hayward and I enjoyed our brief stay in your city during the Historical Society meeting very much. Everyone we met was so cordial to us and to all the Society's members.

You have a marvelous Community House and being born on the Rock River further north, at Janesville, Wisconsin, I had an added thrill at the view of the river from Mrs. Walgreen's estate.

TEMPERANCE SUNDAY

October 31st is "World's Temperance Sunday" and the topic for general consideration is "Why Total Abstinence?" The American Business Men's Research Foundation cites the following facts concerning the liquor traffic:

"The liquor trade is the only manufacturing trade whose products are achieved through the destruction of vast quantities of nutritious grains, fruits and sugars."

with the resultant ingredient of alcoholic poison.

It is the only trade that annually snare thousands of youth and decoys adults, of whom there is a constantly increasing proportion of women, into physically harmful, socially hazardous and economically wasteful living through the habit-forming qualities of its wares.

It is the only trade in which thousands of its retail sales outlets inevitably become the rendezvous and headquarters of criminals, gamblers and prostitutes.

It is the only trade that continues to defy every curb and restriction placed upon it by the community to whatever extent it finds it possible with the consent of conniving officials.

It is the outstanding trade which is using millions of dollars in the promotion of propaganda, misrepresenting scientific facts, and economic experiments.

It is the only trade whose retail establishments depress real estate values and lower living conditions wherever they exist, either in legal or illicit fields of sale.

It is the only legal trade that constitutes a constant menace to efficiency on the twin vital war fronts of production and direct offense.

Total abstinence frees us from active partnership with this "trade."

MINUTE MAN

Los Angeles.—(AP)—Attorney Joseph Schechter asked that his case be called ahead of several others.

"Your case will last two hours," protested the judge.

"Your honor, we'll be through in 20 minutes," Schechter promised "or I'll pay $1 for every minute over that to the war chest."

The hearing required 55 minutes—and the war chest got $35.

TODAY on the HOME FRONT

by JAMES MARLOW and GEORGE ZIELKE

Washington, Oct. 30.—(AP)—A government program to start producing electric irons has been drawn up and now needs only the go-ahead signal.

Recent surveys by the Office of Civilian Requirements show American housewives consider electric irons one of the war-short items they need most. Manufacture of them was stopped after Pearl Harbor because some materials which went into them were critically short.

The program prepared by OCR, part of the War Production Board, requires approval by the WPB requirements committee before manufacture can start.

The irons will not appear in the nation's stores before the second quarter of 1944. Estimated need for them is 6,600,000. Only about one-third that number will be made if the program is carried out in full.

To help make the gap between the number of irons needed and the number planned there will be a vigorous campaign for the rehabilitation of burnt-out irons now idle in American homes.

Nine out of ten burnt-out irons, it was estimated at OCR, can be rehabilitated.

There will be no rationing, as such. Purchase of the new irons can be made two days. A housewife trades in a burnt-out iron or, lacking such a trade-in, will have to provide real need for a new one.

NEW FALL STYLES ARE PLANNED TO KEEP US WARM

These days it's fashionable to conserve. All of the best habits of thrift are being practiced in the most up-to-the-minute homes. And these countless small jobs of saving being done at home add up to really important savings for the nation.

In addition to canning and saving fats and metals in the kitchen, homemakers are doing a big job of conservation by making over their last year's wardrobe so that it will serve for still another season.

Fashion designers, too, have taken the conservation of materials very seriously. The new pencil line skirts save large amounts of material. Precious materials are being used where they can help most to keep Mrs. America warm.

With fuel rationed everywhere and bound to be used sparingly in all sections, most homes will be heated to only 65 degrees during the day and 55 degrees at night. Fashion designers are aware of fuel shortages and warmer indoor clothing occupies an important place in current fashion news. Snuggles, sweaters, flannel nightgowns and turtle neck pajamas are on display everywhere to do their part in the fuel conservation program.

Providing such warmer clothing for the whole family is another of the jobs that falls to the American homemaker. If everyone is dressed farm enough for 65 degrees, there will be little temptation to raise the thermostat and waste the fuel ration.

There are other ways, too, that precious fuel can be saved in our homes. One of the most important of these consists of making use of the insulating value of window shades. Studies have proved that window glass is one of the greatest pathways of heat loss from the average home—accounting for one-third of the total heat leakage.

According to the Armour Research Foundation, as much as forty per cent of this heat loss can be saved simply by remembering to pull the window shades whenever light from the windows is not needed. This means keeping the shades drawn to the sills at night, in unused rooms and when the family is away from home. The shades should also be kept drawn half-way in rooms that are in daily use.

If all American homemakers draw their shades in this way, 9,000,000 tons of coal and 10,600,000 barrels of fuel oil will be saved on the home front for use on the war fronts.

175 Attend SACS Dancing Party

The Dixon high school gymnasium was the scene of a very successful dancing party last evening, an event which is planned to take place following each home game of the football team, by members of the SACS, recently formed organization of high school students.

Membership cards have been distributed by the SACS president, John Phillip Reilly, and plans now are to continue the dances throughout the winter.

Bill Cooper's orchestra again furnished danceable music for last night's party, which had 175 in attendance.

A Thought for Today

Then I commended mirth, because a man hath no better thing under the sun, than to eat, and to drink, and to be merry.—Ecclesiastes 8:15.

Humor has justly been regarded as the finest perfection of poetic genius—Carlyle.

Modern Molly Pitchers

American women whose valor and patriotism are certified on history's pages—face in the current drive to recruit 46,000 members of the Women's Army Corps for service with the Army Air Forces the greatest call to arms yet sounded.

Will modern women measure up to the Molly Pitchers of the Revolution, to the sturdy, sun-bonneted pioneers who trekked silently with their men across the western plains?

Unlike Molly Pitcher, whose hand actually fired a cannon in defense of her homeland, the WAC is not called upon for fighting. She is called upon to replace some male soldier behind the lines so that he may be made available for combat.

Though she sends messages by radio, types blood in a laboratory or answers a telephone, the 1943 WAC, therefore, still is a Molly Pitcher—by proxy.

She doesn't pass her days bouncing uncomfortably on a springless wagon through hostile prairies, this 1943 woman soldier of the United States. She does her bit in an air field control tower, behind a high-speed camera, in a highly specialized classroom.

The physical discomforts are gone—but not the right, the duty of doing the job. This is war, and never was it true that woman's work is never done. Never in all their glorious history of unstinting patriotism have American women been challenged to a more important role.

Taxes Are Part of Living Costs

Several days ago we published an editorial asserting our belief that imposition of a federal sales tax of 10 per cent at this time would be unwise. We thought we had made it perfectly plain that our objection was based on the fact that a 10 per cent sales tax would increase the cost of living 10 per cent or even more, depending upon how the tax is applied. If it were in the nature of a tax on each transaction, beginning with the producer and ending with the retailer, the increase would be much more than 10 per cent.

Some people, however, have thought our objection was based on the fact that the sales tax would favor those with large incomes, who spend a relatively small part of their money on absolute necessities, and work an injustice upon the poor, who spend practically all their income for essentials.

In normal times this rich vs. poor argument against the sales tax would apply forcefully. But today the person with a large income doesn't have a large net income. He may pay as much as 75 per cent of his gross income for income taxes. In addition to that, if the sales tax were added, the person with a large gross income would not only pay around 75 per cent of it for income taxes, but would have to pay 10 per cent more for his groceries, food, clothes, fuel, etc.

The objection to the federal sales tax, as stated in the previous editorial, is not that the rich would have any favors under it, for the rich are taxed in another manner already. The objection is that a sales tax would increase the cost of living. The government euphoniously states that the cost of living has gone up 15 per cent since Pearl Harbor, so folks are entitled to a 15 per cent wage increase. If 10 per cent is added to the cost of living by means of a sales tax, then the cost of living would have gone up a total of 25 per cent since Pearl Harbor. And so, by its own reasoning, the administration would have to grant an additional 10 per cent wage increase, which would contribute to inflation and call for additional taxes. There is no sense in running in circles, even granting that such an exercise seems to keep the public happy.

Another OPA Mirage

The Office of Price Administration has another plan and under the light of day it turns out to be JUST another plan.

OPA says that by spending $100,000,000 to roll back the prices of seven commodities—apples, oranges, onions, potatoes, lard vegetable oils and peanut butter—an overall reduction of 2.3 per cent in the cost of living to the consuming public would result.

Apparently this is just another case of figure juggling on the part of a federal agency in an effort to get its hands into the public till, for as Congressman Thomas A. Jenkins, chairman of the Republican Congressional Food Study Committee, promptly points out, if the entire estimated 1943 production of the seven commodities mentioned were subsidized, as OPA proposes, the aggregate cost of the subsidy would be approximately $525,000,000, and not $100,000,000 as the OPA states.

Further, the Republican committee chairman declares, 1943 living costs are higher than 1942, yet in that year the overall cost of living was reported as $69,000,000,000. If we spend the $525,000,000 to accomplish the rollback, Jenkins says, it would still be far from a 2.3 per cent reduction in the cost of living. He estimates that it would require an expenditure of $1,600,000,000 in subsidy payments to do what OPA proposes to do with $100,000,000.

Industrial Feeding

Maybe the Inter-Agency Committee on Food for Workers is a good thing. Maybe our war production is being threatened by unbalanced diet curable only by "industrial feeding," which is bureaucracy for cafeterias or food trucks in factories. Maybe the problem requires the services of 10 directors, acting directors, chiefs and consultants, recruited from the Food Distribution Administration, War Manpower Commission, WPB and OPA, and appointed to the committee.

Perhaps even there is urgent need of the program initiation and planning, claimant agencies, priorities actions, recruitment and training programs, nutrition education, and all the requirements, provisions and adjustments set forth in three tightly-packed pages announcing the birth of this committee.

Maybe it's all to the good. We just haven't happened to hear of any factory workers going hungry.

Time was when a person who was strong enough and smart enough to work a full shift making war tools was considered smart enough to get, cook and eat his food without any help. But not now. A committee from the agencies sits down, in an atmosphere heavy with bureaucratic jargon, to plot out a spoon-feeding program that must make the worker wonder if he is a man, guinea pig or kindergarten pupil.

Sure, food is rationed and some of it is scarce and shopping is difficult for women workers. We just wonder if appointing still another committee is the solution.

The Nazi high command has promised bonuses to Germans who battle in the front line. At least that gives them something to fight for.

Folks are digging out their winter clothes—and discovering that moths also had a nice time last summer.

Our boys overseas are showing their metal! Be sure you're one of the folks at home who show theirs—for the scrap drive!

Seeing that babies get plenty of milk, regardless of shortage, will protect our most important infant industry.

HITLER'S SECRET PLAN

CHAPTER XXX

"MY stuff," said Enzell, thinking how he could sum it up in a nutshell, "well, it's no more or less than Hitler's secret plan to escape retribution and thumb his nose at the just vengeance of the United Nations."

"The big plane at Chemnitz is a long-range stratosphere machine able to do 10,000 miles in one hop. Not that he needs to go so far. He likes mountains—Berchtesgaden, you know—and he has a hideout all ready for him in some very high mountains."

"Himalayas?" Rick inquired. "No, he's not fond of the British Empire. His hideout lies on the wild east slopes of the Andes; there are regions there that white men have never seen. It's a wilderness estate built entirely by natives under the direction of two of Hitler's most trusted lieutenants, supposedly for an eccentric German millionaire."

"Of course, he has made the usual Nazi caches, a la Goering and the rest, of big deposits of gold and securities in South American banks. And he also means to take with him in the plane a load of selected jewels from the swag of conquered Europe."

"Thus Adolf Hitler means to run away and live, he hopes, to fight another day," Enzell finished with a smile.

"And now you have my stuff!"

HALFWAY across to England Rick banked and cruised up and down over the Channel. "About time to start radioing," he said.

Enzell began tapping out the message he and Imhof had drawn up.

"Watch for planes, everybody," Rick bade as they sped on for the coast of Kent.

"A Hurricane!" yelled Pat, and Characters and situations are fictitious. Any resemblance to actual persons or happenings is coincidental.

suddenly they were in the shadow of fighter planes, appearing almost from nowhere like a wing across the sky overhead.

Next instant the fighters were upon them, while Pat and Imhof and Enzell waved frantically. Now the fighters were a swirling cloud, some almost brushing the bombers' wings. Then they swooped past. But as they did so, in the cockpit of the leading plane a hand waved, and Imhof and Enzell caught a glimpse of Colonel Halleck's grinning face as it streaked by. He had recognized them.

From above, Stansbury airfield presented a scene of unusual activity for so early an hour.

When the landing bomber rolled to a stop it was immediately surrounded by an excited crowd.

"Mother! Dad! Pat screamed and, disregarding the willing hands raised to help her, jumped out and buried herself in the arms of her parents.

Rick piloted Imhof over to the Danforths.

"Mother! Dad!" he announced, "meet—prospective addition to the family."

Colonel Halleck, with twinkling eyes and a delighted smile, came bustling up. "What's this I hear about an engagement?" He bunched his eyebrows at Imhof. "And no wonder," he added, looking at Pat. "With your permission, my dear," he said, as he kissed her gallantly.

The field by now was abuzz with a happy hubbub of cheers, congratulations, questions, answers, exclamations and all the other accompaniments of an ovation. Gluck and Stein were led carefully away and a safety cordon was formed around the German bomber.

"May I borrow him from you for a little while?" Colonel Halleck asked Pat, indicating Imhof. "I shan't keep him long," he promised, as with Enzell, Imhof and Rick he strode toward the plane.

his London colleagues he headed down the field.

"YOUR message," Colonel Halleck told Imhof and Enzell as they walked along, "certainly spoiled our beauty sleep this morning. On its receipt, they pronged me out of bed and half the staff. You should have heard the uproar. Was the message a Nazi ruse to get in a low-level daylight attack? We bulged with suspicion. The possibility had to be guarded against, so we tipped off the RAF. Out with the Spitfires and Hurricanes, we said. One bomber? Identify human contents. More than one? Bing!"

They reached the colonel's room and trooped in. Then behind locked doors Enzell delivered his "stuff" in person.

"Astounding work!" the colonel exclaimed as Enzell went over his story for the second time. "When you said 'important' you didn't say half enough. This discovery will be of incalculable value when the time comes."

"Hitler's near the breaking point now," said Enzell. "He sees plots against him everywhere, not without reason either. Plot of the generals, of Nazi higher-ups, of his own entourage even—plots to assassinate him, to supplant him, or, most dread of all, to depose and hold him for the United Nations so as to concentrate the rap on him and lessen it for the Reich. Colonel, as soon as that plane's ready, and it's well along now, he's likely to skip."

Colonel Halleck leapt to his feet. "Then it was rush, all right. We'll bomb the daylight out of Chemnitz. But more than that, we'll spot this Andes plane from the air pronto and there'll be an unusual number of tourists filtering over the passes shortly. Hitler will find a reception committee waiting for him!"

"Gentlemen!" and the colonel pounded the desk with his fist. "There's a headline the whole world's been longing to read for a good while now, and the world's going to read it soon. That headline says: 'HITLER FACES HIS JUDGES.'"

THE END

Fair Enough

by WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—Many individuals who wrote to the Red Cross in Washington inquiring as to Mrs. Roosevelt's status on her trip to the Pacific have sent me copies of the replies which they received. Taken all together, they still leave some questions unanswered.

Let me quote from one received by a Toledo citizen and published in the Toledo Blade.

"While Mrs. Roosevelt is on her present mission as a delegate of the American Red Cross," it said, "her expenses are not borne by the Red Cross."

"Well, why not? If her mission was legitimate and as important as it was represented to be, the Red Cross could have paid the expense without the slightest embarrassment. It should have done so. Otherwise a few individuals who are able to pay their own way are invited to receive Red Cross credentials and go touring."

"On the contrary," the letter continues, "the syndicate which handles Mrs. Roosevelt's daily column has announced that the proceeds from her column during her absence would be contributed one-half to the Red Cross and one-half to the American Friends Society."

How much was that? The syndicate refuses to say. What has the American Friends Society got to do with it, anyway? What is the matter with the Elks?

"Mrs. Roosevelt did not inform us that she intended to make this contribution to the American Red Cross," is the next statement. I have tried to connect this one with the subject under discussion, but it doesn't seem to fit. But I know that the idea didn't originate in the syndicate, if that is what the Red Cross means to suggest. The syndicate merely complied with Mrs. Roosevelt's wishes. The same syndicate handles my copy, and I know Mr. Carlin, the manager, would never take it on himself to suggest that any of his trained sealshou ld donate a week's or a month's royalties to this or that charity or cause. So that part seems to be mere stalling and filling and absolutely irrelevant.

The next sentence says "Mrs. Roosevelt has been honorary chairman of the national committee on volunteer service of the Red Cross for more than 10 years and has always taken a deep interest in Red Cross work, visiting many chapter workrooms and frequently offering her advice and commendation on Red Cross activities."

There are several angles in that one. First, honorary means complimentary, or for free. Mrs. Roosevelt is honorary chairman by virtue of the election returns which are strictly political, whereas the Red Cross is supposed to be strictly nonpolitical, and had better be again. "Has always taken a keen interest." Does everyone who has always taken a keen interest rate a personal Army bomber, with necessary escorts and 40-some thousand gallons of gasoline?

"Visiting chapter rooms and frequently offering her advice and commendation." Was this then a reward for past visits to chapter rooms and advice and commendation. It was supposed to be a service mission. What actual service was performed?

"She has also done personal service through knitting sweaters for servicemen and garments for relief through the Red Cross."

That also is past performance and its mention further suggests that this trip was a personal reward, but furthermore any knitting factory could duplicate these sweaters and garments for foreign relief in five minutes. How much knitting must a girl do to rate a 26,000-mile trip in a private bomber? Count up, girls.

"During her visit to Great Britain last year," which also consumed a vast amount of fuel for planes and automobiles, Mrs. Roosevelt "surveyed virtually every Red Cross club and many Aero clubs," and "brought back to Chairman Davis many sound recommendations for which he and other officials of the Red Cross were grateful."

No doubt. No doubt. But doesn't the Red Cross have regular, full-time operatives in the field who could do that visiting and make equally sound recommendations? If not, what ails the Red Cross, anyway?

Fortunately, nothing ails the Red Cross that couldn't be cured by a little integrity and independence of politics in the Washington headquarters. For the first time it has been exploited for political and personal intentions, but the people won't take their resentment out of the Red Cross and those whom it exists to serve.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or part strictly prohibited.)

Washington—The strikes, wage actions and economic debates from the labor and food subsidy fronts must seem wholly beyond the understanding of even a well informed news reader.

In truth, some developments are beyond the full understanding of the participants who are splitting statistical hairs and pulling political ones. The controlling forces behind the developments, however, can be set forth with an undeniable assurance which should enable readers to understand the implications of current news.

A real national economic crisis has arisen from the campaign of labor leaders to break the loose economic bounds fixed by the administration on wages and prices. The unauthorized coal strikes, the threatened railroad strike, and similar developments must be traced to that labor initiative.

The seriousness of the situation apparently is not fully understood. Nor has the public been informed of the depth of White House perplexity in trying to find compromise solutions.

The White House plan, however, is clearly discernable between recent developments. The Vinson decision against a full eight cents an hour rail increase to non-operating employees and the War Labor board split decision (7 to 5) in the Illinois coal contract granting a possible $10 a week raise, show the administration is ready to bend, if not officially break the ceilings of the Little Steel formula.

But it obviously wants to hold down the break to a point that will not again throw prices into any higher inflationary ground than necessary.

At the same time, its talented mobilizer Jimmy Byrnes is soft-shoeing his way around inside congress trying to get some arrangement for continuance of the Commodity Credit Corporation food subsidies which will make the consumer and wage earner think prices are not as high as they are, by making the treasury stand some of the increase.

In short, the White House method is to compromise at whatever negotiable point it can find, in order to stave off another general wage and price increase. Weeks will be required to work it out, if it can be worked out, and the effectiveness of the results cannot even be guessed.

The crisis has war and political aspects as well as economic significance.

Coal production already has broken down to the point where suffering in many localities can be expected this winter. Production initiative was disturbed long before the recent crisis by the fact that sons and friends of miners were able to find other war work paying higher wages.

Then, also the railroad brotherhoods are a powerful group, which usually gets what it wants. A rail strike obviously cannot be allowed in view of war necessity, even if it is voted.

The rest of union leadership obviously is holding back to see how these two vanguards come out, before bringing forward again their pressure for a general wage increase.

All this agitation is, of course, being used by Byrnes to frighten congress into a compromise on a food subsidy, but apparently without much effect.

Even if Roosevelt's compromise plan is successful, it probably will lead the nation into higher inflationary ground, but apparently he hopes the ground will be clouded so as not to scare anyone. Also, such negotiated decisions must be temporary.

Both labor leaders and farm leaders apparently justify their existence by planned successive campaigns to increase wage and conditions without end. Their organizational set-ups are such that they cannot afford to take a national economic viewpoint—or accept one which conflicts with theirs.

Nor have they overlooked the fact that a critical presidential election is in the offing next year, having recently modified their national political pledges at their conventions to the point of practically inviting the president to fish for their votes if he wants them—and to use bigger and better bait.

An overall, arbitrary freezing of both prices and wages at the outset of this war (as Baruch demanded) might have obviated the existing difficulties. But with a policy of negotiation and adjustment having proceeded as far as it has, no one seems to be able even to suggest a wholly satisfactory or guaranteed solution.

Washington

By Peter Edson
Telegraph Special Service

Every so often, it is fun to sit back and gasp, gag or giggle at the amazing variety of stuff that comes out of Washington from Capitol Hill and downtown in the executive agencies. To give you an idea, here's a digest of one day's offerings, most of which undoubtedly did not get in the papers because, apparently, there is a war on, a paper shortage, and other things are considered more important.

There is, for instance, the priceless communique from the Fish and Wildlife Service that science has at last succeeded in changing the habits of the salmon. Thirty-five thousand of them, it seems, have been taught to go lay their eggs somewhere else. Beginning in 1939, the salmon were trapped below Grand Coulee, transported in refrigerated tank trucks to other tributaries of the Columbia, and politely asked to spawn there, thereafter. The salmon are smarter than you think, for by golly, they caught on. This year, when the 4-year-old fry came back to lay their first eggs, instead of heading for the ancestral maternity wards above Grand Coulee, they went to the tributaries whither their mammy salmon had been transported by man for lying-in, and where these fry had been hatched. So successful has the experiment been that next year all the salmon wanting to go above Grand Coulee will be migrated to other spawning grounds, to change their homing instincts. The same thing will be done below Shasta dam, on the Sacramento in California. All of which proves that man is smarter than fish, or is he?

DATES TO REMEMBER

Then there is the "Calendar of Significant Events" for the period Nov. 1-15, issued by the overseas branch of OWI. This is a 40-page affair which you open with that trembly, what's-goin'-to-happen next feeling, to read:

Nov. 1, 1500—Birth of Benvenuto Cellini.

Nov. 3, 1852—Birth of Emperor Meiji (Mutsuhito) of Japan.

Nov. 3, 1879—Birth of Vilhjalmur Stefansson.

Nov. 3, 1918—German fleet mutilated at Kiel.

Nov. 4, 1847—Death of Felix Mendelssohn.

OWI isn't the only one to have a monopoly on this hot stuff. The Weather Bureau breaks out with information that it is celebrating the 300th anniversary of the discovery of the principle of atmospheric pressure by Evangelista Torricelli, Italian mathematician.

Everybody, in fact, seems to want to celebrate a birthday, the War Shipping Administration launching a two-candle handout over the launching of the first Liberty ship, the Patrick Henry, which has logged 62,000 miles and is still afloat in spite of rumors she has been sunk. To celebrate this event, a merchant marine overseas correspondent sent back a story that the skipper had been tossed into the Mediterranean by a heavy wave—small w, of course.

A friend in the Marine Corps public relations office called up, 28 pounds lighter and all out of breath, to warn that the Marines would be 168 years old come Nov. 10 and what was this department going to do about it. When asked of the age-168 part of it explained why the Marines hadn't been heard from since Guadalcanal, the friend didn't seem to like it.

MOOSE-MINDED

Fish and Wildlife Service rang the bell for a second time by announcing that Alaska had only 14 game wardens and five airplanes for them to use in protecting the 20,000 moose population up there, but that one might search diligently through many thousands of square miles without seeing a single moose.

It remained only for Congress to take the prize, as you might expect. There, the Hon. Warren G. Magnuson of Seattle, Wash., made himself a one-minute speech:

"Mr. Speaker, most Virginians and most Americans are under the false impression that George Washington was the first president of the United States; but a Scandinavian was the first president of the United States, John Hanson of Maryland. John Hanson has been sleeping too long in American history, Mr. Speaker, and I am introducing a bill today, or a resolution, calling on three, may have been solved. If the Moscow conference has agreed that there shall be an allied invasion of France in the immediate future, to take advantage of Hitler's dire straits in Russia, then there already is plenty of pre-invasion activity in England for Germany's aviators to observe.

Naturally this column isn't predicting a quick invasion of France, but is merely repeating that circumstances might make it advisable and that the operation could still be carried out, despite the lateness of the season. Many military experts have been looking for postponement of the attempt until next spring, but all recognize that it must be controlled by (1) the exigencies of the moment and (2) the feasibility of the operation at that moment.

Federal Officials Recapture Fugitive

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Earl Hansen, 16, of Robinson, Ill., who made a daring escape from federal officers Thursday night in crowded downtown Terre Haute, was apprehended yesterday at Evansville.

Hansen pleaded guilty Thursday night, at arraignment before U. S. Commissioner Clyde Randall at Terre Haute to a charge of driving a stolen automobile from Celina, O., to Vincennes, Ind.

Handcuffed and wearing a safety belt, the youth slipped into a crowd of passersby as Deputy U. S. Marshall James Campbell and I. K. Douglas, a federal guard, prepared to take him to Indianapolis for trial.

Hostetter said Hansen escaped last September 26 from a boys' school at St. Charles, Ill.

In view of UMW President John L. Lewis' one utterance on the WLB proposal, it is extremely doubtful that the policy committee would accept it on Monday. Lewis said acceptance of the proposal would impose a wage reduction.

POSTWAR POLICY DEBATE

In the senate, Senator Willis (R-Ind.) found considerable Republican support for his amendment to the Connally postwar resolution. Willis proposed the amendment to reaffirm the senate's constitutional right to ratify treaties.

Connally has said his resolution was merely "an expression of opinion". Willis declared he wished to make sure the White House would not consider it a blank check permitting the president to negotiate treaties without senate concurrence.

London, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Audacious Yugoslav guerrillas crossed the Hungarian frontier today in widening battles against German and satellite troops, and some units now are fighting on Hungarian territory, a communique broadcast by the Yugoslav Army of Liberation announced.

The crossing was made from Zagorje province, north of Zagreb.

Extensive operations along the Dalmatian coast in which a German column was defeated today 10 hours of fierce fighting, also was reported in the communique from Gen. Josip Broz (Tito). Some 150 nazi troops were killed or wounded.

Twenty allied planes assisted in the Dalmatian operations, bombing enemy columns near Ston, Metkovic, Split, and other localities near Knin, 45 miles north of Split, the bulletin continued.

Germany's harried Yugoslav divisions were reported today to be facing a new Adriatic threat with the formation in northeast Italy of an army of 30,000 experienced Italian fighters whose arms are supplied by Yugoslav Partisans.

Units of this force already have fought a bloody 24-hour battle with nazi troops at Verona, a dispatch to the Swiss newspaper Nachrichten said. After both sides had suffered many dead and wounded, the Italians were said to have retreated to the mountains in the face of German reinforcements rushed from Venice, Milan and Turin.

"This court will not permit persons to be deprived of their liberty except in a legal manner", Judge Dixon said, as he announced that Spielman was released from the Menard institution and should be returned to the Dixon state hospital as a voluntary epileptic patient, subject to his being properly committed.

group is concentrated around Sangigai and the other is retreating northward along the length of the 50 mile long island, flanking strongly held Bougainville.

It appeared likely the opposition will be stiff as it was believed the Japanese may supply Choiseul effectually from their Bougainville bases.

By noon Thursday (Solomons time) U. S. patrols of paratroopers were fanning out along mountains and beaches near the landing points but had made no contact with the enemy.

Picked U. S. paratroops made the landings by boats and did not jump. All were highly trained jungle fighters.

EYEWITNESS' STORY

Abroad U. S. Troopship, Northern Solomons, Oct. 27.—(Delayed)—(AP)—After hours of steaming northward in darkness, this motor ley but powerful convoy of troops and supply carrying craft and destroyers reached the Treasury islands at dawn today.

Allied troops streaked ashore in landing boats under the cover of the heaviest bombardment from U. S. warships since the invasion of Guadalcanal, Aug. 7, 1942.

Japanese machine gun nests along the beach and mortar batteries were silenced by thundering salvos from three destroyers and U. S. gunboats.

The Japanese garrison, estimated to number between 200 and 300, retreated into the jungle and was largely destroyed during heavy fighting of the next 14 hours.

Treasury is 30 statute miles from heavily garrisoned Bougainville, anchor of Japan's South Pacific holdings, and only 15 miles from the intervening Japanese-occupied Shortland islands.

(General Douglas MacArthur's communique for Thursday announced the landing of allied forces on the Treasury group after "minor" opposition.)

Landed in Daylight

The Treasury landing occurred in daylight, only seven or eight minutes flying time from Japanese airfields at Balile, Kanili and Kara in the southern Bougainville area but the explanation for meager Japanese air resistance was simple: allied raids of recent weeks had made the enemy fields unserviceable and many Japanese planes had been destroyed.

I went on the beach with the Treasury invaders while our heavy bombardment still was in progress.

Destroyers and gunboats began the shelling at 5:40 a. m., hurling hundreds of high explosive shells. Later, landing boats carrying troops pumped 10,000 rounds of machine gun slugs into enemy beach positions and into the jungle on sharply rising hills.

The boat on which I was riding shoved off from its ship at 5:47 a. m. as the bombardment was reaching its maximum. It headed for the beach three miles ahead around Stirling island and across the channel to Mono island. Reaching the entrance to the channel it and other landing boats were forced to halt dead in the water while our ships silenced the Japanese guns which still were throwing steel at us. The water was smooth as glass.

Land With Bayonets Fixed

After several minutes, Japanese shore fire diminished and Coxswain Charles "Chick" Martin, Hickory, N. C., headed our boat along with others into mid channel, pointing for the landing, still a mile away.

The troops crouched on the deck of our boat. Machine gunners Navy Firemen Kenneth Barnard, Fort Smith, Ark., and Richard Franklin, Stratford, Conn., held their fire until we were within 50 yards of the hostile shore. Then they opened up.

Landing boat bottoms grated on the coral, 10 yards from shore. Franklin and Barnard lowered the ramp. Troops with fixed bayonets rushed out in shallow water and then plunged into the bush where for the next minute or two there was an occasional rifle crack.

Mondragone was deserted, and an allied officer said the town had become valueless to the Germans, who would make their really important stands from the ridge itself. Several bridgemen forced across the canal all along the line remained under fire of long-range German guns.

American troops drove forward four miles to capture Pietravairano, 15 1/2 miles north of Capua and five miles southwest of Raviscanina.

Lindellmen Trample Geneseo Here Last Eve by 20-0 Count

McLean's Recovery of 2 Fumbles Sets Two Duke Scores Up

By BILL EVANS

In a thrilling one-sided game last night that was highlighted by fumbles and penalties, the Dixon Dukes ran over a Geneseo eleven by the score of 20 to 0. The first two Duke scores came early in the first quarter as Tackle Jack McLean pounced on two Geneseo fumbles and later both fumbles were converted into touchdowns by Halfback John Walters. The third Duke score came in the closing minutes of the second quarter when Fullback Fred Meinke faded back and chucked a pass to End Roger Bivins who took the ball going away over his shoulder and raced some twenty yards to score. Meinke kicked the two conversions for Dixon.

The Dixon line was outwheeled last night, but nevertheless they opened holes on offense and closed them while on defense. The only sizeable yardage that Geneseo made during the game were on end runs that proved to be very effective for the Green and White of Geneseo.

Dukes Score Early

Dixon's first score came as a result of very elert playing on the part of a Duke tackle. Dixon kicked off to Geneseo at the beginning of the game and the ball was returned to the Geneseo 30-yard marker. On two plays they made a first down to their own 41 yard line. On the first down, Geneseo fumbled and Jack McLean scrambled the ball underneath him and it was Dixon's ball on the 41 yard line of the Green and White. Walters picked up a yard into the line and Meinke slashed off tackle for 21 yards down to the 19 yard line. Meinke again took the ball and went to the 9 yard line around his own right end. Walters then cut off tackle to go the remaining distance for the score. Meinke's conversion was squarely between the uprights. Dixon 7—Geneseo 0.

Dukes Score Again

In the second quarter the Dukes pointed to Geneseo with the ball going into the end zone. The ball was brought out to the 20 yard line where Geneseo took possession with a first and ten. On the first play Geneseo again had a fumble in the back field and McLean was again there to hop on the ball for the Dukes at the 20 yard line of Geneseo. The Dukes then drew a five yard penalty for off sides and the ball was put on the 25 with a first and ten. Quarterback Bob Cramer then knocked off 19 yards of the distance down to the 6 yard line. Walters then crashed his way down to the one yard line and on the next play he went the necessary yard for the Duke's second score. Meinke's conversion again was good and the score stood with Dixon leading 14 to 0 at the quarter.

Midway in the second period, Geneseo was forced to punt after several of their passes were incomplete with the ball going out of bounds on the Duke 38 yard line. On first down a Duke pass was incomplete and on the next play Dixon hit on a pass from Meinke to Bivins that was good to the 31 yard line of Geneseo. Dixon again took to the air with a repeated pass from Meinke to Bivins who took the ball nicely over his shoulder and ran the remaining distance for the Duke's third and final score. Meinke's third attempt for the extra point by placement was wide of the goal posts. At half time the Dukes lead 20 to 0.

Dukes Line Holds Twice

Dixon did not have Geneseo backed up against their wall during all of the game for in the third quarter Geneseo came knocking at the Duke door. On a series of end runs and line smashes, the Green and White started to roll and finally reached the 17 yard line of Dixon. They then lost 37 yards and on the next play Kremmis raced back to the 7 yard line from where Kremmis took the ball again and went down to the Duke 4 yard line for a first and goal to go. On four downs the Duke forward wall held and Dixon took over the ball and punted out in order to get the ball out of their territory. Also late in the final period, Geneseo came once again knocking at the Duke gate but this effort was also in vain as the Duke line held firm once again on the two yard line where Dixon took over the ball on downs. Dixon then punted out once again and the final score was Dixon 20 — Geneseo 0.

Clinton scored two touchdowns each in the second and third quarters.

PRINCETON 12; ROCK FALLS 2
Rock Falls, Oct. 30.—A safety scored when Princeton was trapped behind its goal line saved Rock Falls from a whitewash as the visitors scored a 12-2 win in a North Central conference game here Friday night.

Princeton scored in the first canto after recovering a fumbled punt on Rock Falls 12-yard line and a pass from Rumley to Larson was good for score. Rumley's passing was also good for a 37-yard gain and a touchdown in the fourth quarter when Teece was on the receiving end. Rumley's plunge for extra point was stopped.

Rock Falls threatened in the second quarter when their drive was stopped on the Princeton 12. Princeton attempted to run the ball out from the goal but was stopped for the safety.

MORRISON 6; OREGON 0

Oregon, Oct. 30.—Morrison defeated Oregon 6 to 0 last night with a 4 yard line plunge by Voss which scored the only points in this Rock River conference game ending Oregon's schedule for the season.

Both teams threatened to score in the first quarter. Oregon made 4 first downs, Morrison 11.

HALL 25; STERLING 0

In a conference game of the Northern Division of the NCI last night, a Hall Township eleven pushed a Sterling Community team all over the field to win by the score of 25 to 0. Hall in winning last evening rolled up a total yardage of 341 while Sterling only collected 87 yards.

Sam Abraham of Hall was the big gun in the game as he scored two of Hall's touchdowns in the second and third quarters. On his first marker, Abraham scored from the nine yard line and in the third period he received a pass and ran the remaining distance to score.

Hall's third touchdown was scored by Fullback Pannazzi who featured a march of 69 yards in 18 plays. Rusinski accounted for the final score as he too took a pass to score for Hall.

DE KALB WINS

Last night in a conference game, a DeKalb high eleven scored another NCI victory to take the top honors in the Northern Division for the 1943 season. The Barbs outscored the Ottawa team by the count of 21 to 13. As a result of last night's victory, DeKalb will meet the Princeton Tigers in the championship playoffs at the latter's field next Friday evening.

In the first quarter the Barbs took the ball on the kickoff and started to march down the field. Cunz and Felder made several end runs that put DeKalb in Ottawa territory. Pesut of DeKalb then took the ball on an end around play down to the three yard line. Cunz then went over from the three to score for the Barbs. Schultz's kick by placement was good.

Again in the second quarter the Barbs started to roll as Felder and Cunz combined together for several lateral to the 45 yard line of Ottawa. On the next four plays, DeKalb was down to the 31 for a first and ten. Another lateral was good to the 19 and on the next play a pass was incomplete but the official's ruling was interference and the pass was good to the 9-yard line. In four plays they moved the ball down to the 2-yard line from where Felder carried the ball over. Schultz's kick was again good.

DeKalb then hit for their third score in the third quarter as Lions plunged one yard to score after the Barbs had put on another touchdown drive. Schultz's kick was again squarely between the goal posts for his third straight kick.

Ottawa's touchdowns were scored in the first and last quarters of the game. On the first score of Ottawa, Thorpe passed to the latter ran the rest of the distance to score. The kick for the extra point was not good.

Ottawa, in the closing minutes again began to roll against a third string Barb team. Ottawa intercepted a Barb pass on the 12-yard line of the latter. Hilton then hit

Several Farewells Will be Shouted in Grid Stadiums Today

Number of Outstanding Football Stars Play Their Last Games

New York, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Most goodbyes are said in privacy but today millions will be shouting farewells to football friends whose 1943 campaigns have been cut short by the Navy department's Nov. 1 graduations.

Some 80,000 fans will give Angelo Bertelli, aerial marksman of the Notre Dame squad, a vocal sendoff at Cleveland where the Irish and the U. S. Naval Academy eleven tangle in a meeting of undefeated teams. Four of Bertelli's present teammates will accompany him to Parris Island Marine camp next week.

Another throng, this one of 71,000, will be on hand at Philadelphia where Pennsylvania and Army, likewise unbeaten, are the opponents. Early in the week Penn lost fullback George Veling and reserve end Ben Celian by transfers.

Georgia Tech and Duke, two outstanding lend-lease powers, are scheduled to entertain 40,000 at Atlanta with squads that may be decimated before another week ends. Duke will lose 22 members from its varsity roster and Tech's losses will be almost as great.

Southern California, which trimmed California earlier in the year, tries it again today but this time without Capt. Ralph Heywood, quarterback Mickey McCordie and Pete MacPhail.

No Farewells At Columbus

Virtually the only game in which farewells won't be in order is the collision of Ohio State and Indiana at Columbus. They rank among the country's best all-civilian teams.

Minnesota hopes that Herman Frickey's re-appearance won't be as emphatic as Bill Daley's last week. Frickey, last year at Minnesota, will be ending his brief Northwestern career in today's contest.

Tony Butkovich, Illinois fullback on loan to Purdue, will be with the Boilemakers for the last time against Wisconsin. Daley is through at Michigan following the final game in the Illinois game. Tulsa heads into a Southwestern of Texas outfit that has lost virtually its first team and Dartmouth appears in the Yale bowl.

Other games today include: East—Brown at Princeton, Columbia at Cornell, Colgate at Holy Cross, Case at Rochester, and Bucknell vs. Muhlenberg.

Midwest—Iowa State at Oklahoma, Missouri vs. Nebraska, Fort Riley at Iowa Pre-Flight, Kansas State at Kansas.

Southwest—Texas at Southern Methodist, Texas A & M at Arkansas, Texas Christian at Louisiana State.

80,000 At Cleveland

Cleveland, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Eighty thousand fans furnished a fitting frame for today's picture pigskin game—unbeaten-untied Notre Dame vs. unbeaten-untied Navy—in Cleveland's sprawling lake-front stadium.

The Fighting Irish, with quarterback Angelo Bertelli pitching in his collegiate farewell to football for the duration, were two-touchdown favorites with the wagering gentry, but the Middies had plenty of support.

Bertelli, the magician who manufactures most of the legend from the Notre Dame "T" formation, goes to Parris Island, S. C., for the Marines after today's tilt. "Accurate Angelo" has completed 21 of 27 passes this year, eight for touchdowns, and his three-year record on aerials is 27 touchdowns and almost a mile and a half of yardage.

The Navy, which Coach Capt. J. E. Wheelhead said "didn't come up here to lose," will counter with a pretty fair tosser of its own. He's Left Halfback Harold Hamberg of Lonoke, Ark., who has completed seven touchdown aerials this season. Although this Hamberg is unrelated, the Navy feels he may cost the Irish several points.

In bowling over five foes, the Irish have piled up 228 points to 25 for the opposition, while Navy's record over the same route is 129 points against 49. Georgia Tech, the only mutual opponent, fell 55-13 before the Notre Dames, and 25-14 before the Middies who needed a last-period spurge to win.

The Notre Dame five-game point total is the best the Irish have compiled in 39 years. The 1912 team, featuring Knute Rockne and Gus Dorais, piled up 273 in five contests, but counted 116 against little St. Viators of Kankakee, Ill.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Tony Butkovich of Purdue needed to make 13 points today to set an all-time scoring record for Western Conference games as the Boilemakers aimed for their seventh straight victory of the season against Wisconsin.

Butkovich, with 60 points to his credit in Big Ten action, and two other Purdue regulars, Guard Alex Agase and Tackle John Genis, will be playing in the last game before leaving for additional Marine training.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Billy Daley and Merv Pregulman, two of Michigan's regulars, were to make their farewell football appearance today against Illinois before reporting for advanced Navy training. The Wolverines, beaten only by Notre Dame, were out to spoil the Illini's homecoming by grabbing their fifth win of the season.

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 30.—(AP)—With six former Gopher players ready for action, Northwestern today aimed for its first victory over Minnesota since 1939. A homecoming crowd of 35,000 was expected to watch the 27th meeting of the two schools since the series began in 1892. The Wildcats have not defeated the Gophers since 1939.

Fort Sheridan, Ill., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Fort Sheridan's first football team has an ironman assignment for the week-end, playing two games instead of the conventional one encounter.

The Army team today entertains Wilson Junior College of Chicago and tomorrow goes to Milwaukee to meet the Falk Corp., eleven, 1942 Midwest Industrial League champions. It will be the soldiers' third game in eight days, having played at Dayton, O., last Saturday.

Bowling Bits

By "FRIDAY"

In the Major League at the Dixon Recreation last night Myers Royal Blue took three games from Van Dams and went into a tie for first with Dixon Recreation which won two from Lepperd Motor Service, each having won 13 and lost 8. Dulings Tavern holds down second with 12 and 9, while Hub Tavern is third with 11-10.

Al Wolfe turned in the high series of the night with 602. Bowlers who rolled better than 200 were J. Sweeney, 202; Cy Winebrenner, 217; E. Detweiler, 226; L. Melvin, 211; Wolfe, 234; Fordham, 202; Tilton, 215; M. Miller, 203; E. Klein, 221; Deibert, 212, and Daschbach, 204.

In the men's singles at the Recreation after the Major league last night, C. Rosebrook put together a 563 series and a 108 pin handicap to take first place with 671; Al Wolfe took second with 631, having the most actual pins for the event with 583 added to a 48 pin handicap; Leo Miller, third, with 615; R. Ommen, fourth, 607; W. Weidman, fifth, 600; E. Detweiler, sixth, 596. Eph Worton, seventh, 592 and Horace Hartman, eighth, 585.

We notice "Peewee" Shertner missed getting in the prize list by one pin, getting 584. Wonder if it was impossible for him to get one more counter.

W. Weidman rolled the high individual game of the night with 223, and other high games were Wolfe, 219-205; C. Rosebrook, 214-203; Ed Detweiler, 202 and Jim Biggart, 207. The complete scores are elsewhere on this page.

Here's a plea to the sixth men who step in to bowl when some regular is absent. Please don't bowl with your street shoes on. You not only spoil the night for your opponents but also your own teammates. There are always extra bowling shoes around the Recreation and Ken Detweiler is always willing to help fit you out. He's even been known to come up with a pair of trousers in an emergency.

Dale "Zeke" Senneff of the Lepperd Motor five in the Major league, spent yesterday in Chicago and intended to get measured for some new glasses. We'll expect big things of Zeke with the improved vision. As it was his team dropped two last night.

Any bowlers who need a little practice, (and who don't) have the opportunity at both Lincoln Lanes and the Recreation over the week end as both drives have open bowling on Saturday and Sunday.

Baltimore, Oct. 30.—(AP)—With $25,000 and eighth place among the leading money winners of all time in sight at the end of a mile and three-sixteenths route, Mrs. Payne Whitney's Shut Out faced a field of four other colts today in the seventh running of the Pimlico Special.

Greentree Stable's son of Equipse was quoted at 5-1 in the overnight odds to romp home first and win the $25,000 purse for his trainer, Marylander John Gaver.

Named to go to the post with him in the weight-for-age classic was W. E. Boeing's Slide Rule. Hal Price Headley's Anticlimax, Havahome Stable's Eurasian and Foxcatcher Farm's Fairy Man-hurst. The latter colt also was named overnight in the $7,500 added Exterminator Handicap.

Although progress in most sections is excellent, the department of agriculture reported that weeding of fields and lodging of the rank plant growth have made combining difficult in some places.

From Hay to Hairpins Outside the corn belt, the department said, a large acreage intended to be harvested for beans was cut for hay because of heat and drought damage to bean yield prospects and to supplement the ordinary hay crops.

The indicated production as of Oct. 1 was 206,868,000 bushels, which compared with 209,559,000 bushels harvested last year. Illinois, Iowa, Ohio and Indiana, in that order, are the principal producing states.

The importance of the soybean—which the Chinese long ago referred to as "the little honorable god," when they saw the numerous uses to which it could be put—has been highlighted by the war. More than any farm product, soybeans find their greatest use in industry. They are used for everything from hay to hairpins.

Soybeans Used for Almost Everything; Hay to Hairpins

Chicago, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Quality of this year's soybean crop, which is being combined under general ideal conditions, is good to excellent with moisture content in some cases as low as 8 or 9 per cent, grain trade reports asserted today.

The present harvest of this relatively small but important crop is a sharp contrast with conditions a year ago, Cargill, Inc., Minneapolis grain firm, pointed out.

"At this time last year," Cargill said, "a large proportion of the soybean crop was severely damaged by frost, and the wet fall made harvesting so difficult that some fields were not harvested until this spring."

Pentagon Building Holds Reports From All of Our Troops

And Officers There Inform You Anything Can Happen in Army

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor
Washington, Oct. 30.—At the Pentagon building where the reports come in from all our troops, officers will tell you that among 9,000,000 men anything will happen.

Even cartoons come true. Take the one of the man on the beach, astride a washed-up torpedo, who says to his horrified wife nearby, as he lifts a hammer to hit a firing pin on the torpedo's nose:

"What did you say your intuition tells you?"

The true life parallel, except that it was an artillery shell, happened in North Africa. The case of a shell was dented, so that it stuck in going into the gun breech. A soldier and his buddy tried to drive the shell in with a pickaxe. Both were killed.

And did you ever hear of a six cylinder motor with only five pistons? That happened in North Africa, too, the truck in question getting all the way there before the error was noticed.

The truck didn't do any harm, in fact was fixed in a few minutes. And the dented shell was the only one of thousands which was not caught and remedied before reaching the front. In fact, in the absence of both witnesses, it is not certain the shell didn't get its dent after reaching the front.

These and other catches by the scores are the job of a little known branch of the service, Overseas Inspection. Six months of the North African inspection are spread through big books of photographs on file in the Pentagon building.

All the shells left the United States in perfect condition. Each was packed in a tough fiber case, and those in turn in wooden crates. But Eisenhower needed ammunition fast and more shells were rushed into Africa by shipping them close-packed, without the crates. Unskilled foreign labor in foreign ports banged up a lot of them.

A dent in a shell, or corrosion, is likely to mean a jammed gun, and that may leave the gun crew or tank easy mat for an alert enemy. Overseas inspection, perforce, had to store some ammunition and equipment in the open areas where for months the ground was like a thick chocolate malted milk. Their studies indicate that they caught and corrected most of the dents and the corrosion, but it was a job.

One of the proudest of their records is the inspection, and assembling of new trucks and tanks, and the reconditioning of battle-damaged vehicles. In six months, 37,000 trucks passed through their hands. Some unidentified soldier painted a huge sign over the door of an immense building where each one passed its final inspection:

"Through these portals flows a stream of faultless transportation to speed the downfall of aggressor nations."

Life Told in Photos

Private Betsy's life is told in photos. She was a truck, returned, shot up from the front along with hundreds of others. She needed a lot of work and much of the equipment to do it had to be improvised by things which never were taught in school or previous experience.

Betsy's first need was a bath, to get off the mud to see what ailed her. There was not enough water available to wash all the Betsy's. The boys picked a spot where the soil was impervious hard-pan clay, with six inches of sand on top, and a slope, where in they dug a tank.

The water that was run over Betsy splashed down into the sand and seeped to the tank, cleansing itself of mud on the way, and being used over and over.

"They used blow torches to cut straight lines in steel, a feat that isn't supposed to be easy. The overseas inspection boys however learned it well enough even to make new armor for damaged tanks.

They had to provide the skills for much fine work on guns, tanks, control parts, even electronics. The crews never tried to boast about this fine skill, but preferred to set up signs like these:

Save All Metal

"Used car department—Fords without motors. Dodges without windshields. Jeeps by the doz. Make us an offer. Big G. M. C. with small motors. Amphibians with holes in body. Pay while you ride, 10 per cent down. Two-year contract (padded)."

Whenever a part had been combed for salvage or reconditioning, every bit of metal that was left went into long, fence-high rows, awaiting shipment back to the United States. Some of it was only scrap. Some was empty brass shell cases which the engineers back home have learned to re-draw into new cases for a 20 per cent saving in the metal allotted to this purpose.

Overseas Inspection likes to think it had a small part in converting Hill 660 into Hill 550. The two figures are this hill's height before and after American artillery flattened its top along with a lot of Germans.

Victories of U. S. Flyers Credited to Thorough Preparation for Battles

Victories scored by United States Army flyers from this area in the various theaters of war are due neither to luck nor sheer courage—but rather to thorough preparation for air battles, Capt. F. A. Wilgus, Air Corps, President of the Chicago Army Aviation Cadet Board, 166 West Van Buren street, asserted today.

Best Training in World

As Aviation Cadets in the Army Air Forces, boys who qualify through the Chicago Board receive the best training in the world, Capt. Wilgus pointed out. On the ground and in the air, they learn all there is to know about their planes and check on possible weaknesses in enemy aircraft.

"During ground work training," said Capt. Wilgus, "our Aviation Cadets make scores of 'blackboard flights' before they are ready to step into a real plane. They study the proper manner of making take-offs and landings, wind conditions, navigation, and the theory of flight.

"By the time they are ready to take to the air, these things are second nature to our flyers. Their planes become so familiar to them that the machine becomes a part of the man.

"The dual advantage of superior training and equipment given American airmen has been evident as our sky fighters have blasted enemy planes from the air."

17 Yr. Olds Take Advantage

Seventeen year olds can take advantage of this opportunity to secure the finest aviation training ever offered by volunteering. If they are accepted they will begin wearing their silver wings as members of the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve Corps immediately. Men 18 to 26 can qualify at the Army Aviation Cadet Board and go into the Army Air Forces through their local Selective Service Board.

Poets' Corner

"MY THOUGHTS GO TO OUR BOYS"

I've sat and tried to think this over,
But sometimes just cannot express
The thoughts my mind endeavor,
About this worldly mess.

Boys from my home town,
Who used to work behind the counter,
Boys from across, where I live,
Are off to war, with an enemy to conquer.

They left their respective homes,
They bid goodbye to all;
And put on a uniform of many tones,
For their flag they will fight and fall.

Some are wearing khaki,
Some are wearing blue;
Some are flying in the sky,
For the protection of the red, white and blue.

They have picked up a gun
Instead of a shovel;
And drive a jeep;
Instead of a car.

They salute their buddies,
Instead of shaking hands,
They march many miles,
Instead of ride.

They are all doing their very best
To protect things dear to them,
And they will not take a rest,
Until the axis is condemned.

They are fighting to keep home
their home,
To keep main street the same,
To keep democracy on the throne,
And to put the U. S. to fame.

But no matter where these boys may be,
By prayer to God is all I ask,
To send them safe home, from across the sea,
For they are doing well their task.

THE STORM

The lightning flashes,
The thunder roars,
We close the windows,
And shut the doors.

The wind is blowing
A fearful gale,
Now it is raining
And starting to hail.

It is wild, yet majestic
This raging old storm,
'Tis consoling to know
We are all safe from harm.

Sometimes with ourselves
A storm rages within,
And we feel like the trees
That are beaten with wind.

Then like a flash we feel
Peaceful and calm,
Like ruffled waters do
After the storm.

Al Dexter, the obscure hill billy singer, who wrote the current song hit, "Pistol Packin' Mama," is set to collect close to $250,000 in royalties and for its sale to Republic studio. He explains the hit: "It's just a case of a fellow dreaming for 14 years and nothing happens. Then one night he has a nightmare and it makes him a fortune." Success has not changed Dexter. Like all Texas singers, he still calls his guitar a "starvation box."

If the deal can be arranged, Jimmy Cagney will play Gen. Billy Mitchell in the celluloid biography. He's Mrs. Mitchell's No. 1 choice.

HUNTER

Hollywood's No. 1 autograph collector, and perhaps the nation's, is a former Los Angeles book seller named William Bottom. Bottom, who is 77, has an autograph book started in 1881 which he values at $2500. Picked it up in a second hand book shop in 1928 and has since added more than 2000 star autographs.

The book reads like the Who's Who of the theater. Sarah Bernhardt was the first to sign in 1881. She wrote: "Life is beautiful, but to me, death is still more so." In 1936, Bette Davis wrote: "I wish I might have been privileged to know all these great artists, and pray I may achieve at least half of their greatness before my time is over." Wrote Mae West: "A bad woman with a good heart."

Dickie Moore, the former child star is growing up. He's now playing a young soldier in "The Eve of St. Mark." He'll be in the real army when he turns 18 in a few months. . . . Maureen O'Hara ages from a girl of 20 to a woman of 60 in her new film, "Buffalo Bill." It takes the make-up department two hours to give her that 60-year look.

The Pied Pipers tell it. Seems two playwrights were making a big show of their friendship. After one had gone, the other said: "I just saw his latest—a comedy." "Was it funny?" someone asked. "Funny," snorted the playwright. "I could hardly keep from laughing."

Interesting Letter

We received a very interesting letter Thursday morning from our old friend Clayton Lahman of White Rock. With his kind permission we copy some of it believing it will be of interest to others as well. The letter is dated October 25. "As I always read the news in the Dixon paper I thought it might interest some of my good friends in Franklin Grove. I am celebrating my 85th birthday today. I was born on the Mrs. Alice Morris farm and raised in the old brick house on the Elmer Cline farm west of the old grist mill, until I was 21. I married Mary Chronister, who died 43 years ago. Then I married Gertrude Warner. She had many good friends in Franklin Grove. She died about four years ago. Since then I have been alone. There isn't many of my old friends left, but have a lot of friends in the younger class. Link Hartzell and I were raised together. I have lived on what is called White Rock for over 35 years, but have sold out. I have a daughter living in Mendota and a son in Homestead, Fla. At one time I had ten cottages. I reserved one for myself and am living in it now. Am enjoying fairly good health for one of my age". The farms referred to are just west of this place. Mr. Lahman has a number of relatives in this community and many friends who will wish for him many more birthdays.

Glen Courtright Says USO Is I-A to Boys in Army

October 19, 1943

Mr. Sterling D. Schrock, Lee County, Dixon, Illinois.

Dear Mr. Schrock: It is indeed a pleasure to write a word concerning the USO and the outstanding job which this organization is doing.

During the last four months I have on many occasions spent enjoyable hours at the USO. With us boys in the Army, it is I-A on our list of must on our day off. Believe it or not, these clubs and their varied facilities make our leisure hours some of real enjoyment. hours which otherwise would be empty and lonely ones. Everywhere I've found a genuine desire on the part of all concerned with the USO, to make things as enjoyable and pleasant as possible for us boys. By doing your part you are helping us do ours.

Sincerely yours,

GLEN A. COURTRIGHT, Sgt.

IT SEEMS that the "army" of enterprising young Washington lawyers who figure out the "ins and outs" and attempt to plug all the loopholes in the newest government rulings have an infallible answer to all inquiries of "Why?" And that answer is, "According to 'historical data' we have found . . .". Thus the background is laid for any theory they may wish to try.

Now organizations and groups who oppose some of the rulings are starting on a "fight fire with fire" campaign and as a result the country is beginning to be flooded with percentages and charts and figures to show one thing or another. Some of these certainly put an entirely new light on the farm subsidy and inflation picture which has been painted in Washington.

FOR example—food prices are only 7 per cent above the 1929 level, while the individual wage worker's income is up 59 per cent. Today the cost of living is only 1.6 above the 1929 level. (That figure was brought out to show that the proposed roll-back of 10 per cent to help "starving workers" was unnecessary. The argument was that with living costs up 1.6 and per capita income up 59 per cent the whole thing just didn't make sense especially when there were more in the family working than before.)

ANOTHER battle of figures is shown in the party picture. Those numbers are based on conditions of 30 years ago in the "historical data" and the refuting claim is that they are not only outmoded but that the farm labor cost which has increased 80 per cent in the last 30 months cannot be considered according to alphabeteer ruling.

GOING back again to the 1929 level, statistics show that butter was 45 cents a pound then and that there was no particular clamor or then—now the subsidy has lowered the present price from 46 to 41 cents which makes it 4 cents below the 1929 level, while the per capita income is up 59 per cent over the 1929 figure.

THE result is rather obvious

—there has been an increasing decrease in the amount of butter available. The large country market of producer direct to consumer has been fairly well stopped—what farmer's wife wants to make a trip to the rationing board to get permission to take stamps for a pound or two of butter a week from her customers?

CAUSED the country butter market to practically disappear in many places is the fact that in the past in many cases a small premium was paid by regular customers to many a farmer's wife because they liked the particular type of butter she made—now the ceiling with its attendant subsidy has made this practice illegal. The same line of reasoning with a few variations applies to all other rationed and ceilinged farm produce which in the past was taken directly to the consumer from the producer.

"HATS off to the American farmer"—that's the one statement where even the statisticians and alphabeteers, residents of Washington and Podunk Corners agree. In spite of all the regulations and "historical data" and theories and refutations he has gone right ahead producing. He has used his own good judgment about when to break regulations when he felt the result was a benefit to the food program. He may be "mad" even "good and mad" but he hasn't quit producing. There's not a case on record, where any farmer has taken his lunch and gone out and staged a sit-down strike on an idle machine—if he had any thoughts of striking the machine kept on moving anyway!

THERE'S an interesting loophole that the alphabeteers have left for the above would-be "black marketer." The law requires that price ceilings be modified where necessary to maintain production! The only catch to that is that the only court where such an appeal for modification might be made is situated in Washington, D. C. So if you'd like to hire a couple of lawyers and go to Washington and spend a month or two you might be able to change the price of a few eggs or a little butter or a bit of lard.

THE "$64 question" is,

"Should these direct market practices which have been satisfactory for years be discontinued and a further burden placed on the already overtaxed regular market or should the practice be continued under the shadow of a $10,000 fine or 10 years in prison?"

Farmer is Run Over

Two Times by Tractor

Michigan City, Ind., Oct. 30—(AP)—Roy Solner, 42-year-old farmer, lay in a field seriously injured for almost four hours yesterday after he was run over by a tractor twice after he had cranked it while in gear.

Solner was knocked down after he cranked the machine, fracturing his left hip. He lay on the ground as the tractor, guided by an automatic steering device, circled the field. He was unable to move from the path of the machine and it passed over him a second time lacerating his right side.

As the tractor rolled on and bore down on him a third time, Solner dragged himself in the clear. The machine continued to circle the field until its fuel was exhausted.
